Abstract

Our passionate teachers strive to employ innovative pedagogical approaches to facilitate the learning of diverse students including those with mobility challenge to provide “The Best Student Experience” at the University. In this workshop, we are honoured to have invited three speakers to share their experience in delivering and receiving support for quality teaching and learning.

Professor Byron Choi, winner of HKBU President’s Award for Outstanding Performance in Individual Teaching Teacher AY2021/22, will share his impactful stories on supervising his former MSc student, Mr Sai Ho Cheung who suffers from cerebral palsy and only able to move one finger and articulate five sounds.

Mr Sai Ho Cheung, a Master degree graduate with HKBU in 2019 will share his learning experience in HKBU and his venture of starting a company to benefit other physically-challenged learners with computer software.

Mr Marcus Ng, Senior Lecturer from the Tung Wah College, who is also the occupational therapist supporting Sai Ho, will share the specific needs of students with physical impairment, and how teaching staff can effectively accommodate their needs in terms of teaching, learning and assessments.

Come and join us for this seminar to learn to better support students with special needs!

All staff are welcome. Light refreshments will be provided to take away at the end of the seminar. For enquiries, please contact us at chtl@hkbu.edu.hk.
